UK Planning Aid Conference 2009

Building Sustainable Communities – the role of Planning Aid

Pollock Halls, Edinburgh

6 & 7 April 2009

Introduction

Everyone now recognises the importance of delivering sustainable development - but how can we build truly sustainable communities?

From 'eco towns' to local food sourcing, from mediation to civil engagement, we have to change the way we do things and embrace new challenges. Building sustainable communities requires a new orientation, respect for diversity and continuous striving for inclusivity.

The conference will explore some of the new themes confronting local authorities, planners, developers and communities alike, and provide opportunities for discussion and exchange of ideas.

To build sustainable communities requires each and every one of us to work together to bring about the necessary changes to deliver sustainable development. This conference is for everyone who would like to play a part in that challenging task.
