

RTPI North East

mediation of space · making of place

Breakfast Ethics Seminar Tuesday 28th March 2017

Newcastle University, Research Beehive,
Old Library Building, Newcastle. NE1 7RU

.....

Seminar brief

Ethics is one of the RTPI's Learning and Practice priorities for 2017. This free breakfast seminar is hosted by RTPI NE and Newcastle University. The seminar will explore issues such as ethical workplace challenges, conflicts of interest, equality and diversity, professional competency, gifts and hospitality and use of social media. Places are limited so make sure you book early to avoid disappointment.

Programme

- 09.00AM Registration and refreshments
- 09.20AM Chair's Introduction – Oonagh Cranley, Senior Planner & Heritage Consultant – Lichfields
- 09.30AM The RTPI's approach to Ethics, Conduct and Discipline and the Code of professional Conduct Craig McLaren, Director of Scotland and Ireland, RTPI.
- 10.10AM Ethics, Conduct and Discipline – so what does this mean in everyday practice?
Colin Haylock, Haylock Planning and Design & Chair of the RTPI Membership and Ethics Committee.
- 10.50AM Open forum with all speakers
- 11.00AM Close

Book via the RTPI
website:

[http://www.rtpi.org.uk/
events/events-
calendar/2017/march/ne-ethics/](http://www.rtpi.org.uk/events/events-calendar/2017/march/ne-ethics/)