

A Leading Consultancy

We're proud to say that we're an award-winning consultancy. We've a positive, creative mindset, and we're passionate about what we do.

Formed in 2005, Iceni is now the market leader and preferred consultancy for a fast-growing number of clients across different regions of the UK. We have always sought to provide the skills of an advisor with the instincts of a developer.

We achieve this by knowing our tradecraft – the technical skills that come through years of education and on-the-job experience that is recognised by professional accreditation. But it is also daring to be different; being proactive and thinking strategically. Our client relationships are built on trust, togetherness, enthusiasm, and a courage to challenge, where appropriate.

The technical specialisms that the company hold have widened, but this fundamental objective remains the same. We are committed to putting our client's interests first – and providing them with the tools to significantly improve their performance.

We're a multi-disciplinary consultancy with 5 offices in the UK. Regional presence is important to us as to have a better insight into the projects we work on, to build better relations with our clients and recruit the best talent nationally.
